

COGS 4780 – Presentation Guidelines

At some point in the semester, each student will be responsible for teaching a small segment of the class. The aim is to be the instructor for that one segment, responsible for delivering content to the rest of the class. I will communicate individually with each student to provide a specific section of the/a textbook to be covered

The following should be used as guidelines as you prepare for your own presentation

- Presentations are expected to be around ~15-20 minutes in length. They can be longer, but not extremely longer.
- The presentation should cover the key concepts and information contained in the textbook section
- It should also include discussion of at least 2 (can do more) research studies in detail
 - 3 easy ways to find these:
 - Track down studies referred to in the textbook
 - Utilize Google Scholar
 - Ask Ben

Presentations will be graded on their ability to meet the above criteria and the clarity of explanation throughout the presentation. This assessment will be completed by me and by your peers.
